

LITERARY NOTES.

Mr. Francis Abbott writes of "The Catholic Peril in America," in the March Portuguese Review.

The final volume of the new edition of Mr. Bancroft's History will contain an elaborate index of about a hundred pages, which Mr. S. R. Crooker of Boston, editor of the Literary World, is now compiling.

The historian, E. A. Freeman, is about to collect, under the title of "Extracts from Travel, in History and Architecture," papers, chiefly upon Italian subjects, written from time to time to the journals. Macmillan & Co. will publish the volume, which may be followed by others.

The series of translations from the sacred books of the world, undertaken by Prof. Max Müller, will be comprised in six division, illustrative of the religion of 1. the Brahmins (Brahmā); 2. the Buddhists (Pali); 3. the followers of Zoroaster (Zend); 4. the followers of Confucius (Confucian); 5. the followers of Lao-tze (Chinese); 6. the followers of Mohammed (Arabic). Many distinguished Orientalists will cooperate with him.

George Bell & Sons, London, are to publish, in a portfolio of thirty-two plates, at ten guineas, "The Drawings of Flaxman," comprising the entire series in the gallery of University College, London. The plates will be "permanent autotype photographs, one-half the size of the original drawings." The thirty-two framed copies cost $30 each, and the portfolio, or studies in sepias, India ink, and color, several have suffered materially from discolouration in the first instance, or from the effect of time upon certain very delicate prints.

John Newell, of 12, Grosvenor Square, Grosvenor Gardens, has published a small work, "The Art of Drawing," containing 200 prints, one hundred being in color, with notes and regulations, and annual report, gratis upon application to the author.
